Yep, and I see you set the time for 2p. so all good with me.
Also, Alex, my manager said this should go from attorney to attorney. I'll leave it up to you if you want it to go from you or me. We can talk about it at 2p.
Thanks,
Pam

Hi Everyone,

Do you have time tomorrow (Wednesday) for a short discussion of the letter? I am available anytime except from 1-2.

Pam, as I stated below "I have time on Loren's calendar on Friday – though theoretically he is on spring break."

He told me last week that he plans to meet this Fri [4/10], but that the meeting is subject to change

If he moves the meeting, I will do my best to try and get it scheduled for next week.

I am doing the best I can – the managers here at HQ have really full schedules, particularly with this COVID situation, and the spring break challenges make it even more difficult, at least this week, to be able to count on meetings not being rescheduled.

I hope this is clear... Thanks for your patience and understanding, Sushila

Pam and Steve (per my voicemails) and rest of case team:

No specific line edits, but just to reiterate a point I thought I had made in last week's call – I need to run the approach by my management (Loren Denton), specifically set forth in the paragraphs (specifically the red highlights) from the cut and paste from today's draft attached to Pam's E-mail below. I myself am fine with the concepts, but to be clear, I need to get my management to approve the concepts as well.

I have not yet done so, because I was not sure how much R3 immediate management's would change the draft that I had last reviewed (prior to the end of March).

I have time on Loren's calendar on Friday – though theoretically he is on spring break. Hopefully he and I will speak then, and I can run the concept by him using the latest draft of the letter that I have – either today's or if that changes, a later version.

I hope the above message is clear, and if it is not, please phone me at the number below. Thanks, Sushila

Hi there,

First, thanks for the call, Alex. Hopefully, we can make some better progress now that you are on board.

Here's the most recent draft of the letter that I just sent to Stacie, et al., for review. Alex, let me know if it's okay and if you have any comments. Sushila, I'd ask you to refrain from doing a line edit and just give me whatever comments you have since this is the second run through management.

Steve's management intends to send this up to the RA for review before it goes out. I will let you know of any changes as a result of that review.

Thanks and have a good night,
Pam
